SPECIAL ROAD TAX MUST BE VOTED

To Obtain Road To McKee, As Well As Other State-Aid Projects, Says Goodloe

County Judge J. D. Goodloe sends the Daily Register a communication regarding the action of the Fiscal Court Monday on state-aid road projects.

The Daily Register understood the matter exactly as Judge Goodloe states it. However, its assumption that the McKee road will be built first if the special tax carries, can not be erroneous, for the McKee road is the only road upon which there is at present an offer of immediate state-aid. The Fiscal Court accepted state-aid on this road, and State Highway Engineer Joe S. Boggs has said that if Madison county would do that, work would begin next year, so there is really no difference on the subject. All that is required is for Madison county to vote this special tax at the November election and provide not only funds for the building of the highway to McKee, but funds that will be available whenever the state offers its assistance in building other inter-county seat roads. But Judge Goodloe explains the situation and all will be glad to read what he says of the court's action:

August 16, 1922.
Mr. S. M. Sautley,
Richmond, Ky.

Dear Sir:
In looking over your write-up on the action of the Fiscal Court on last Monday, I note that both from your headlines and the body of your article you have misstated the action of the Court, and I would like for you to correct the same as promptly and conspicuously as possible.

In the first place the Court did not order or recommend the McKee road be built first, it simply entered an order accepting the state-aid on the McKee road as it did on all the other state-aid projects.

Second, if the Court contemplated building the McKee road out of the present levy, it failed to so indicate, and certainly no such appropriation was made. The intention of the Court is to build the McKee road out of the funds made available by the special tax in no wise different from the other state projects.

The orders of the Court are on record in the county clerk's office for anybody's inspection and are identically the same in regard to all the state roads of the county and under these orders all the state roads have the same status accepted by the Court as fast as funds are made available by either a special tax or a bond issue.

Trusting that you will give this correction a conspicuous place in your paper, I am, Very truly,
J. D. GOODLOE, J. M. C.

MADISON NEGRO HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Elzy Broadbudd, of Near Baldwin, Arrested After Wife Dies From Poisonous Drink

Elzy Broadbudd, negro, of the Baldwin section of Madison county, is in jail in Lexington, charged with poisoning his wife and causing her death. He was arrested by Sheriff Elmer Deatherage and Deputy Ben Davis late Tuesday afternoon. A call came to the Madison officers from Fayette, that a man living near Valley View had killed his wife. Sheriff Deatherage and Davis immediately hastened to Valley View. It was remarkable, but Mr. Deatherage says he passed Broadbudd coming his way as he went out the Tate's Creek pike. He did not know then that Broadbudd was the man wanted. After talking with Fayette officers at Valley View, the local officials retraced their steps and arrested Broadbudd. Deatherage says that the negro was greatly surprised at being arrested and protested his innocence. His wife died in Lexington where they had been staying, and the Herald had this story of the affair:

"Pint after pint of denatured alcohol my wife and I have drunk and it never has made us sick," Elzy Broadbudd, negro, of 434 Patterson street, who was placed Tuesday in the county jail on charge of murder. His wife died as a result of drinking denatured alcohol Sunday.

The woman, Amanda Broadbudd, died Tuesday afternoon at 10 o'clock at the Good Samaritan Hospital, a short time after she had been brought there in the police ambulance. Broadbudd was arrested near Valley View in Madison county about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon after Sheriff Deatherage of Madison county, and a deputy and was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Gus Owens, of Fayette county, who brought him into jail here.

According to the story told Deputy Owens by Broadbudd, he bought several bottles of denatured alcohol, called "head" by negroes, from the death's head poison label, and both he and his wife partook of the "beverage." He said he bought this last bottle at a drug store at Third and Deweese streets, on Sunday and that his wife, who was quite a "dope field," drank some of it. She became slightly ill Monday, he said, and he ran away, going to Tate's Creek pike where he slept Monday night then got up early Tuesday morning and crossed the river about 5 o'clock.

Coroner John Anglin was called to the hospital on the woman's death, and it was he who notified the sheriff's office to apprehend Broadbudd. Deputy Owens immediately got in touch with Sheriff Deatherage of Madison county and Broadbudd was arrested while in a buggy on a road near Valley View.

Coroner Anglin had gone to the Kentucky river and it could not be learned when the inquest will be held. In the meantime Broadbudd will be held at the county jail on the charge of murder.

"GRAND OLD MAN" OF U. OF K. IS DEAD

Dr. James K. Patterson, 89, the "grand old man" of Kentucky University, died Tuesday afternoon at his home in Lexington. Dr. Patterson was president of the University of Kentucky for 41 years from 1869 to 1910, which is said to be the longest period of service as a president of a college in this country. He came to this country from Scotland where he was born. After settling in the wilderness of Indiana, he attended school at Madison and taught his first school at the age of 17. Since then he has become one of the most noted educators in the country. Dr. Patterson did more for the University of Kentucky than any other man. He practically made the institution what it is. He is survived by a brother, Walter K. Patterson, who has made his home with him in Lexington. Many local people went to school to this man, who was beloved by all.

Mrs. G. G. Perry and son, Igo Perry, have returned from a short stay in Stanford, attending the fair Thursday.

C. OF C. WANTS ROAD AND WHITE WAY

A meeting of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce was held in the Court House at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening in which the main things discussed were a White Way for Richmond and the proposed road project from Richmond to McKee. The members instructed Secretary L. W. Dunbar to gain all the data he could concerning the possibility of a White Way here before the next meeting when he is to submit his report. A similar project fell through three years ago when it was promoted by several Richmond citizens but the Chamber of Commerce expects to put the thing over.

The committee on public affairs and good roads, composed of H. deB. Forbes, Hae Dean, Dr. D. J. Williams and Allen Zaring, was instructed to keep in close touch with the road situation in Madison county and especially in the Richmond-McKee project. This committee was also instructed to aid as much as possible toward the building of this road.

The secretary was instructed to get estimates on signs which are planned to be erected on the principal highways leading into Richmond, welcoming the visitors to the city.

In the absence of President R. E. Turley and Vice President Wm. O'Neil, J. W. Hamilton presided over the meeting which was marked by good attendance. The next regular meeting will be a special one held on Monday, September 11. Every member is expected to be present as many important questions are expected to be taken up.

Valentino Is Leading

Man for Alice Lake
Rudolph Valentino, who exacts the leading role of Julio in Metro's colossal production of the "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, also plays opposite Alice Lake in her new starring picture, "Uncharted Seas," which will be shown at local theatres Thursday.

Mr. Valentino is seen as a young sea captain in "Uncharted Seas," a story from the pen of John Fleming Wilson, and adapted for the screen by Elwood Jenkins. Bayard Veiller, director of productions at Metro's West Coast Studios in Hollywood, considers this the best story Mr. Wilson has ever written. Wesley Ruggles directed the photography.

The story centers about a girl whose husband proves himself worthless despite her efforts to reclaim him. The youth's trail by his wife and father and the success of the second man, go to make "Uncharted Seas" a thrilling tale of the sea. Much of the early part of the story takes place about the San Francisco harbor.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

J. E. Tudor, former well known farmer of Madison county, was over from Stanford Wednesday morning and was kept busy shaking hands with his many friends here. He likes his home in Lincoln and shows it by a gain of several pounds in avoirdupois.

Col. J. R. Dunbar and Newt Hendren were up in Lee county the other day appraising the estate of the late W. P. Head, tobacco buyer, who was killed riding a horse over his farm in that county. On the way up, Col. Dunbar says he was almost overcome by a whiff from a noontime still just as the train passed near the locks on the river. On the way back he didn't detect the odor, so came to the conclusion that a fresh rim was being made as he went by the first time. Mr. Head's farm of about 1,200 or 1,500 acres, was near Willow Shoals. Besides this vast acreage he had some 28 head of cattle, a pair of mules and other live stock.

F. P. Scales, agent in Bell county for the famous Dodge car, passed through Richmond about noon Wednesday with nine new machines, which he was taking home overland. He and his crew of drivers stopped over with Woods & White, local Dodge agents, and were given a cordial greeting here. They left to go on to Middlesboro after a rest here.

W. L. McClain, Bardstown, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, now a member of the faculty of the Eastern State Normal School at Richmond, is in Lexington for a few days visit. Mr. McClain has had charge of a teachers' summer training school at Princeton, just closing a six weeks' course.—Lexington Leader.

MISSISSIPPI CROPS REPORTED GOOD

Judge J. C. Chenault has received a letter from his son, J. C. Jr., from West Point, Miss., telling of the crops in that country. This year which he reports to be very good. He reports that he ginned the first bale of cotton in the county, weighing 380 pounds, which netted him $36. He says that the country has the best prospects for good crops that they have experienced in many years except in a small area where no rain has fallen for a good while. As Mr. Chenault lives in that section he expects to sell all of his hogs so as to have enough corn to run the place on next year. He reports cotton to be bringing about 31 1-4 cents a pound. He says that he has 15 shoats for which he has been offered 9 cents a pound. All in all the crops in Mississippi are the best in years.

WACO NO MATCH FOR BLUE LICK

Blue Lick won from Waco 2-0 in the feature of the annual Johnson Reunion there. Waco nor Blue Lick had their best men on the field. The visitors took the lead by scoring two runs in the first inning but after that they were the victims of the slants of Hickam, a Berea College student, who worked throughout the game for the Hustlers. Metcalf started for Waco and pitched the first four innings, all wag eight hits and six runs. He received poor support from his teammates who made several costly errors. Jack Duerson finished the game for Waco, holding the Hustlers scoreless with four hits. He was aided by several lucky plays and a bad decision by the umpire.

Manager Harris, although given more than his share of the raspberry, played a good game. He came to the bat three times and drove out two clean hits, including a double. Bill was a wild man on the paths. He stole base second and third after singing in the fourth inning and took part in a double steal in the second when he swiped home.

Waco made only five hits, but two of these came in the first. With two down, Duerson was safe on a error. He stole second and scored on Ginter's single to right. Ginter taking second on the throw-in. Pearson's clean single to the central garden accounted for Ginter and Waco's last run.

The crowd showed very little interest in the game and the winner seemed to have been understood from the start. Waco handled the double steals pulled off by Blue Lick like grammar school boys or perhaps not as well. Every one that was attempted went through. It seems the best policy in this country is when this play is started to let the runner on first take second so that the man on third will be sure to be held there. The score:

COAL STRIKE SEEMS

OVER AT LAST

Cleveland, O., Aug. 16.—For the first time in twenty weeks, striking soft coal miners at scattered points in seven states today are under orders to begin production of coal. This is the result of the part settlement of the strike. However, it affected only a small minority of the 450,000 coal diggers but union officials were on their way back home to seek peace with other employers. President Lewis predicted that the soft coal operators generally would accept the agreement and held out hope for early quantity production. Under the policy laid down by the union, district officials may conclude peace with any soft coal operator, either as individual or association.

Vote Three Times At Corbin To Reject Agreement—Still Conferring With Officials

(By Associated Press)

Corbin, Ky., Aug. 16.—The system chairman of the Big Four Brotherhood went into session today with Louisville and Nashville Railroad officials in an effort to compose the differences and allow resumption of traffic on that road. Many say they will not return to work unless armed guards are removed. This is the principal point at issue and which was believed to have been settled yesterday at a conference of union leaders and railroad representatives in Louisville. The men voted three times last night to reject the Louisville compromise under which activities of guards are restricted.

Washington, Aug. 16.—President Harding in a message to Congress tomorrow will present to the country the government's position about the existing industrial troubles, especially the railroad strike. His message is expected to be a comprehensive statement. Meanwhile railroad union leaders continued in session here preparing for the conference which the Brotherhood chiefs obtained from the railway executives in New York tomorrow.

May Not Accept It

Corbin, Ky., Aug. 16.—Members of the "Big Four" railroad unions who yesterday refused to take out trains on the Cumberland division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, Tuesday afternoon declared that in spite of the fact that the system chairman had negotiated an agreement with the railroad company, they would not return to work until armed guards were removed from the shops and yards here.

This was learned by a representative of the Associated Press from a authoritative source following the adjournment of a meeting of union men here Tuesday.

The special train carrying general chairmen of the "Big Four" railroad brotherhoods who reached an agreement in Louisville with L. & N. officials designed to end the walkout on the Cumberland division, arrived here at 7:30 o'clock last night. The general chairmen at once went into conference with local chairmen and a committee of workmen.

OLDHAM'S MIDNIGHT RIDE SAVES HUGGINS

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 15.—How a midnight ride by an attorney through country roads of Southern Kentucky saved his client from having to pay $50 in fines until the Court of Appeals could pass on the case at its fall term, became known here when the news was received that Chief Justice Rollins Hurt, of the Court of Appeals, had issued a writ of prohibition against Judge W. H. Fields, of the Jefferson Circuit Court. The case was that of Clem W. Huggins, Louisville attorney, who was fined $30 in each of three cases for contempt of court. R. C. Oldham, of Richmond and Louisville, was the man who made the trip.

Mr. Oldham, who was associated with Mr. Huggins in the case, came to Frankfort and filed a petition with Justice Settle asking for an injunction. Judge Settle held that, owing to the fact that no lower court had acted on the injunction proceedings, a single judge of the Court of Appeals could not take action during vacation of the court.

This action was filed at 11 o'clock the night of August 5. The decision was rendered Monday, August 7.

After Judge Settle's ruling, Mr. Oldham started for Columbia, the home of the Chief Justice, where he is spending his vacation. He travelled far into the night, arriving at Columbia at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning and getting Justice Hurt out of bed filed a petition asking a writ of prohibition. The Chief Justice granted the writ and Mr. Oldham returned to Louisville with it.

The action of the Chief Justice also creates an interesting legal question, according to attorneys, Justices Clay and Thomas recently decided that a judge of the Court of Appeals could not issue a writ of prohibition during vacation. Thus the Chief Justice is at variance with two of his colleagues.

Justice Hurt in his order says that the writ will stay execution of Judge Fields' order until the question can be acted upon in the regular order by the Court of Appeals.

Note these New Prices on U.S. Tires

ON July 29, 1922, the lowest prices ever quoted on U.S. Passenger Car Tires went into effect—Royal Cords included. These new prices should give confidence to dealers and car owners that no lower basis of quality tire prices will prevail.

Bear in mind that these prices apply to the most complete line of quality tires in the world. Remember, too—as you read the following table—that U. S. quality has been positively maintained.

"This Nation's Growth Is Due To The Railroads"

—Said The Late Franklin K. Lane

"This country cannot grow without adequate transportation facilities. The railroad is our common highroad; it is not a concern in which the farmer and the manufacturer alone are interested; it is an essential to the commercial life of our people, almost as necessary as the land itself, for we have grown up as a people to be physically dependent upon our railroads. No other people are so bound up as we in economic inter-dependence. No one community in all this land lives to itself. We have grown as railroads were built. We have made a community of a continent."

"The part the L. & N. has played in the upbuilding of the central South is plainly demonstrated by the increase in land values, the population growth of the cities it serves, and particularly the development of the mineral resources and industrial enterprises adjacent to its line of road."

What are Your Vacation Plans?

Talk to an L. & N. representative about your trip. Suggestions as to where to go, information about hotels, things to be seen and done, railroad fares, schedules and sleeping car reservations, are all part of Louisville and Nashville service. For booklets, time tables, etc., see any ticket agent.

That is what the life-romance of Lucretia Eastman came to; that is the root of the story. The Silent Threat of Hidden Danger hung ever over the two vessels pushing into water no man had ever sailed. This was the test Lucretia Eastman had agreed to, for the sake of the husband she could not love.

America's Favorite

A romance of unusual love under the flashing northern lights. Showing how the icebergs that pass in the night leave their chill upon faint hearts. Where a woman demonstrates that she forgives often—but just so often. Showing the reward a wild life sometimes receives, and where a woman's love battles with a man's fear.

For a moment she saw the tots struggling at a window, but falling timbers quickly hid them and she was powerless to enter. Their bones were found in the ashes.

The Woman of Poise,

Once a rarity, is now to be observed and admired upon every hand. Indeed, no other woman can flourish long in the midst of this modern, complicated life. In the home, in business, in social life, the woman who is serene and confident wins, while the nervous, flustered individual wastes her talents and gets nowhere. Of course, poise is dependent mainly upon sound health and steady nerves. If you feel that you are being kept back in this way, why not turn to that great woman's remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was manufactured from a thorough understanding of the nervous system of women? It

"Your Engine Is In Fine Condition"

This is the usual report after an inspection of a motor that throughout all of its service-life has been kept properly lubricated with the right amount and the right "body" of motor oil. Stanocola Polarine possesses lots of that very important property of a true lubricant—that is, "oiliness." It reduces frictional wear, forms a perfect piston ring seal under all conditions of clearance, temperature, speed and load; prevents excessive carbon deposits, gasoline waste and dilution of oil in your crank case. To keep your car from a premature old age, put no motor oil in it but
